

THE GAME,
MISSION,
VISION
&
MOVEMENT...

At A Glance

THE PROBLEM

Nigeria is at a crossroads, fighting for its soul, identity, and future.

Anyone who carries even a drop of patriotism in their veins must feel the urgency. But concern alone is not enough. Endless criticism is insufficient.

The only way forward is through courageous action and audacious moves, not only to save Nigeria but to redirect it toward renaissance and re-Nationalization.

As a trainer, coach and business consultant focused on systemic problem-solving, I have reached a sobering conclusion: Nigeria's greatest crisis is not just corruption or security rather it is disconnection!

A disconnection between Nigerians and Nigeria.

Like a husband and wife who no longer understand each other, this disconnection means that many citizens no longer bring their best selves to nation-building. Even when a few make valiant efforts, the system or the majority often undermines those steps.

The symptoms of this disconnection are visible: corruption, mindless destruction, tribalism, apathy and systemic failure.

This problem would be manageable if not compounded by a deeper flaw: our education system.

While nations facing similar identity crises have used transformative education to rebuild their citizen identity, Nigeria has adopted a foreign curriculum that often disconnects our children from their roots.

By the time a child turns 13, they may know more about Abraham Lincoln, John F. Kennedy, or Winston Churchill than Tafawa Balewa, Hassan Katsina, Nnamdi Azikiwe or Obafemi Awolowo and the events that forged Nigeria.

This results in a generation that becomes "un-Nigerianized" too early, weakening patriotism and disconnecting identity from nationhood.

(Please do not misunderstand: there is nothing wrong with going global, but every form of globalization begins with localization.)

THE SOLUTION

There is no doubt that Nigeria's problems (complex and wicked), require multi-dimensional approaches some of which demand "wicked" solutions. But chief among them is reconciliation, a re-connection between Nigerians and Nigeria. This transformation must begin with:

- Honest self-evaluation
- National reorientation
- Emotional re-connection
- Forgiveness and healing

Civic education through storytelling, shared history and strategic dialogue.

It requires learning, unlearning, and relearning. Through conferences, summits, white papers, national dialogues, multi-generational orientation, inter-generational handshakes and more, we must rekindle national consciousness. But all of this can be very costly, demanding excruciating resources, energy and time.

But what if all of that could be simplified?

THE MISSION

There are many models for learning, but none as effective or inclusive as games.

Games lower defenses. They evoke laughter, curiosity, and bonding. They are non-threatening, experiential and deeply human.

That is why games have become one of the most powerful educational and transformational tools in the world.

Games don't preach rather they invite.

They allow people to experience, reflect, and connect historically, emotionally, socially and intellectually.

THE VISION

"National Cake" is more than a board game, it is a nation-building tool.

It simplifies history, makes learning fun and transforms classrooms into living laboratories of Nigerian civic imagination.

With "National Cake," we can:

- Break learning resistance
- Penetrate homes, schools and communities
- Restore cultural appreciation and civic pride
- Build curiosity, historical awareness, and leadership capacity
- Strengthen national unity without attacking religion or culture

The game is designed to teach, engage and inspire all while honouring Nigeria's sacred heritage and diverse story.

THE GAME, MISSION, VISION AND MOVEMENT...

We are not just launching a game.

We are commencing a national renaissance through storytelling, play and identity restoration. "National Cake" is urgent, relevant and revolutionary.

Let us use this tool to reconnect Nigeria to its people and its people to their purpose.

For us, "National Cake" is a metaphor made real, a mirror of Nigeria's soul, a classroom without walls, a battleground of consequences and a laboratory for civic imagination.

This is history funified, education simplified and patriotism verified.

"National Cake" will dare you to feel, think, investigate, act, belong, believe and become. It holds the secret to the NEXT PHASE of Nigeria.

It is built on the premise that if you know your history, the future will not be a mystery...

THE CAKE IS IN YOUR HANDS

To those who have led, built, guided and carried this nation on your shoulders, this is your moment. You have seen the highs and the heartbreaks. You have witnessed the promise and the pain.

You know, more than most, that Nigeria is not just a country but a calling.

But this generation, the one rising now, does not remember the dream.

They were not there when Nigeria stood tall in the eyes of the world.

They have inherited the scars, but not the story.

- We owe them more than criticism.
- We owe them more than survival.
- We owe them the gift of memory, of meaning and of identity restored.

This is why "National Cake" is not just a game but a key. A classroom without walls. A mirror of our past and a compass for our future.

And we are asking you, the leaders, the elders, the visionaries, to help us put this tool into the hands of every child, every school, and every family from Abdullahi in Sokoto to Imaobong in Calabar, Khadija in Maiduguri to Adewale in Epe.

Because if we do not teach our children who they are, the world will tell them who they are not. If we do not guide them through the crossroads, they may lose the road entirely.

So, we ask you:

Lead a State with "National Cake" boxes and become a chapter in our national rebirth.

Champion a region with "National Cake" in every school, and inscribe your name in the chronicles of our civic awakening.

Adopt schools with "National Cake" boxes and give a child the gift of belonging.

Speak up with "National Cake" boxes from your pulpit, your office and your boardroom, for unity, for truth and for transformation.

This is not charity; this is legacy. Not politics, but patriotism. Not a donation, but deep-rooted participation.

The cake is now on your table.

Will your name be written among those who helped us bake a better Nigeria or among those who watched it burn?

The time is now.

Please, let us bake the future.

One box. One Family. One nation at a time.

Thank you

Long Live !!!

The Federal Republic of Nigeria.

Victor Prince Dickson f.hcd
(The Transformer)

Is a Human Capital Engineer. Inventor of Kommon Sense, Creator of National Cake. He is a transformational thinker, executive coach, and consummate trainer.

A Mindset architect with a rare gift for diving very deep into the Human Mind, deploying Atomic Thoughts, Emotional Intelligence, Biomimetics, Cognitive Science, Epigenetics, and Psychometrics.

He is a Genos Certified EI Trainer at the forefront of Emotional Intelligence 4.0.

Using Psychometrics, Prince has evolved Emotional Intelligence (EI) practice to Intelligent Emotions (IE), and from this Emotional Data developed extraordinary Workplace Culture insights with Genos EI Solutions, leading to Power, Profit, and High Performance.

Victor has guided leaders, organizations, and everyday people through deep Transformation, emotional reconnection, and lasting change, helping people move from invisible struggles to visible impact.

Find out more about Prince @ victorprincedickson.com

